Administration

It has been an interesting and challenging year. Changes are being made in curriculum and emphasis is on involvement. Students, parents, and teachers, through the Long Range Planning Committee are examining what we have done, what we are doing, and seeking new direction for better educational opportunities for all students.

There has been success and failure, there has been work and fun, and there has been laughter and tears to remind us that life is personal and real.

It has been a year of our lives. What it means to us individually becomes more important as we take time to look for the positive and enjoy the satisfaction of having been a part of 1970-71.

English

The English Department spent a busy winter and spring writ-curriculum for an elective English program. Students were polled and the course offerings for 71-72 were a direct result.

The end of the 1970-71 school year brought about the retiring of Miss Amanda Anderson, long time speech and debate coach in Salem with 17 years at South.

A new course in the department was 3-Dimensional Expression in which students are assigned to a teacher for a six week session to study Drama, Literature, and Music of various cultures.

Additional paperbacks and supplementary materials add to the expanding English curriculum under the direction of Roger Whiteman, department chairman.

Social Studies

The Social Science Department investigated two of the newer methods of instruction and learning during this school year. The "new social studies" is described as a move toward "inquiry oriented" instructional materials and included for South students some new textbooks and an opportunity for students to engage in social science process as well as learning content knowledge.

Several simulations were used by teachers and students this year. Some of the more popular simulations included: Propaganda, Consumer, Dangerous Parallel and Democracy.

Considerable planning was undertaken as the entire district will begin to move into a new social science curriculum for grades 7-12 with next school year.

Language

Besides teaching the student how to converse in a modern foreign language, language teachers have been concentrating on pointing out cultural differences by using media such as current magazines, slides, tapes, movies, and letters from pen pals. The goal is to understand and appreciate the manner in which other people lead their daily lives and gain insight on the evolution of their cultures.

Art and Crafts program is based upon the philosophy that a student can learn skills in art through the application of the elements and principles of design. The difference between Art and Crafts lies in the fact that Art is concerned with two dimensional media such as drawing, painting, printmaking, watercolors, fashion design, and design theory, whereas Crafts is concerned with 3-dimensional media such as ceramics, jewelry, weaving, and fabric design.

The Music department is in charge of putting on the many concerts throughout the year. They also played a big part in the production of West Side Story.

The Home Ec. classes were very busy making pantsuits and swim suits out of knits. This year some made their own coats in their alterations classes along with making their own patterns. Involvement in Government

A new constitution significantly altered the picture of student government in 1970-71. A dual council system served as the legislative body of government. The executive council acted in an advisory capacity to student council. Student Council consisting of Class Senators, Home Room Representatives and the A.S.B. officers acted on many pieces of legislation affecting the school. Some of the accomplishments of the student council are as follows:

1. The Athletic Council adopted their recommendation that students should serve on the council.
2. Split Homecoming activities, proposed by second Vice-President, Dave Wilson, were approved by the student council.
3. The student council held class caucuses to involve more people and more ideas in student government.
4. Earth Week became a reality through the help of A.S.B. funds allocated to the Earth Week committee chaired by Kirk Richardson and the Students for the Environment.
5. A Bike Club proposed by Sophomore senator Jim Stillings was chartered.

Conspiring to improve the atmosphere at South were the A.S.B. Executive officers. Through their efforts the A.S.B. was able to: rent juke boxes for the cafeteria, stage better quality assemblies, arrange for bigger and better groups for the after game dances, and increase the number of student council meetings. 1st Vice-President, Joan Whipple succeeded in an attempt to increase the participation at the poles for A.S.B. elections, improving on last years turnout by 12%.

Saxon Gridmen District Co-Champions

South Salem started its successful season with a 20-14 win over North Salem. Rated 7th in State the Saxons took on Hudsons Bay and beat the Eagles 14-0. They then went on to an impressive victory over 4th ranked Grants Pass, 20-0. Once again they played a 4th ranked team, Medford, and the 3rd ranked Saxons lost by a field goal 9-6. Then they opened the district games against no. 1 ranked Corvallis. The Spartans used a controlled ground game and won 21-12. South evened its district mark with 22-7 victory over McNary.

The Saxons Homecoming was complete this year when they beat the Albany Bulldogs 28-13. After this victory the Saxons then went on to stomp Lebanon 36-0.

Going into the final week of the season Corvallis, North, and South were tied in district with a 3-1 record. Any team could possibly be district champion. South was a 44-6 victory over North, but did not go to the state playoffs. The Saxons were District Co-Champions with Corvallis. By virtue ot the earlier win over South, Corvallis advanced to the playoffs. The Saxons finished the season with a 7-2 overall record and were the 9th ranked team in state. The only two teams they lost to were Medford and Corvallis, who met each other in the State Finals.

Spirit Makes a Reb Deb

Spirit is a very important part of South. During the school year South chooses girls who have shown outstanding spirit and enthusiasm throughout the year for all home football and basketball games. These spirited girls are traditionally called Reb Debs. Wearing white dresses complimented by the red Reb Deb sash, they represent South during these home games. There were also two Honorary Reb Debs who showed outstanding spirit. Miss Kulbel was chosen for football and Mrs. Hise was chosen for basketball. Sherri Dill was selected as Reb Deb of the year during the last home game.

J.V. Basketball

The J. V. Basketball Team coached by Val Barnes, finished the 1970-1971 season with an 11-11 record. They finished third in district with an 8-7 mark. They dumped Albany three times and McNary twice.

The J. V.'s were led by leading scorers Phil Brus and John Evans and leading rebounder Mike Johnson.

The Sophomores finished with a record of three wins and 12 losses. They were led by Rick Fawcett who scored over 200 points.

Saxonettes: Precision & Perfection

The South Salem Saxonettes placed first in Drill and Dance Competition for large group at the State wide Competition in Corvallis. Earlier in the year they participated at Albany in Competition, in which they advanced to the finals.

The 22 Saxonettes performed for many pep assemblies and many football and basketball games during the seasons. The Rally and Saxonettes got together for a skit for the last game before Christmas. The girls put in many hours of practice and often practiced at 6:30 in the morning in order to be ready for performances.

Girl's League

Muffy Stewert, Girls League President hosts the faculty at the Girls League Annual Tea. This tea is held each fall to acquaint the faculty and the girls league officers. During this tea the officers get a chance to express their ideas for the coming year and to discuss them with the faculty. This procedure makes it possible to let the officers and the faculty work more closely together through the year.

For the past few years Girl's League has held an annually spring fashion show. Only this year things were a little different. All clothes shown this year were made and modeled by girls in the sewing classes at South Salem High. LEFT, Terry Fox models a top as she awaits the arrival of summer. Children Learn What They Live Future Teachers of America is an organization of students interested in a career in teaching. Through a series of meetings, different aspects of teaching are explored. F.T.A. also takes it upon themselves to welcome new teachers, give a scholarship, and participate in several other projects which are beneficial to the school. The South High F.T.A. chapter, with a membership of one-hundred and six, is the largest such organization in Oregon. Much of this can be attributed to the advisor of the club, Mrs. Lida Halverson.

This year the Cadet Teaching program involved sixty South High students. Cadets were assigned to various Elementary and Junior High schools in the south part of town. A few taught at the Senior High level in such areas as French and German. Their teaching experience included spending one to three hours daily teaching and observing classroom procedures. All cadets were actively involved in Future Teachers of America.

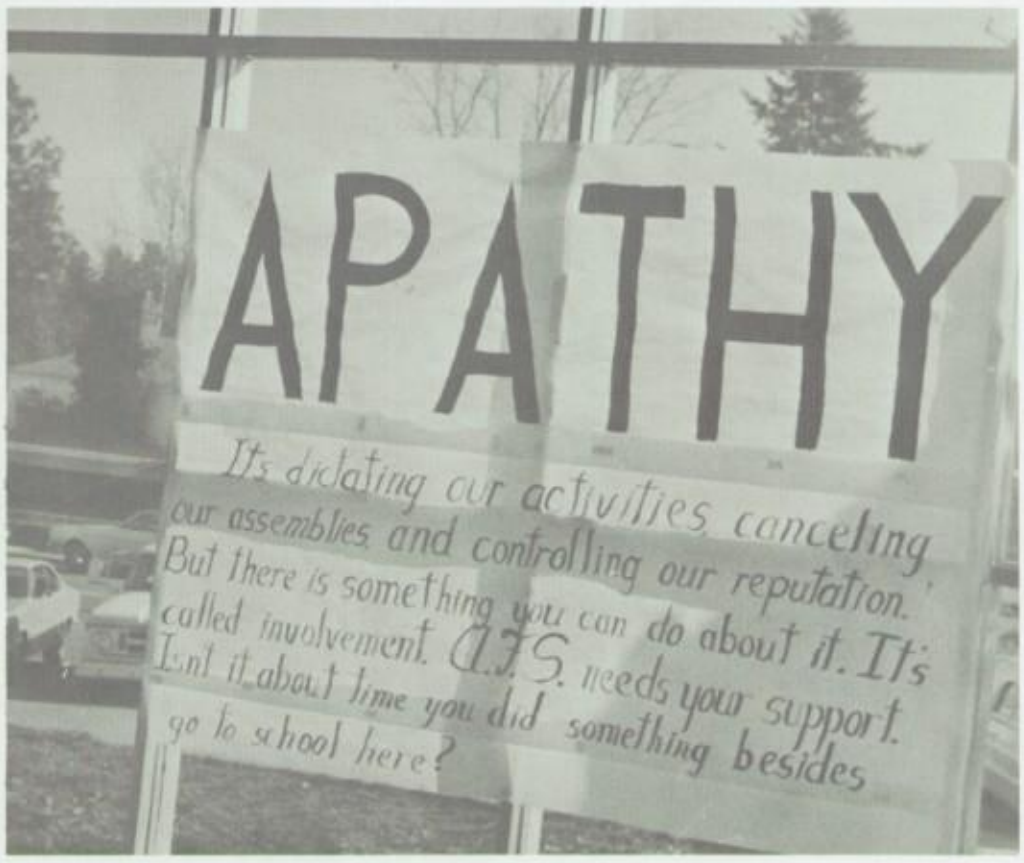
Involvement in AFS



APATHY
It's dictating our activities canceling our assemblies and controlling our reputation. But there is something you can do about it. It's called involvement. A.F.S. needs your support. Isn't it about time you did something besides go to school here?

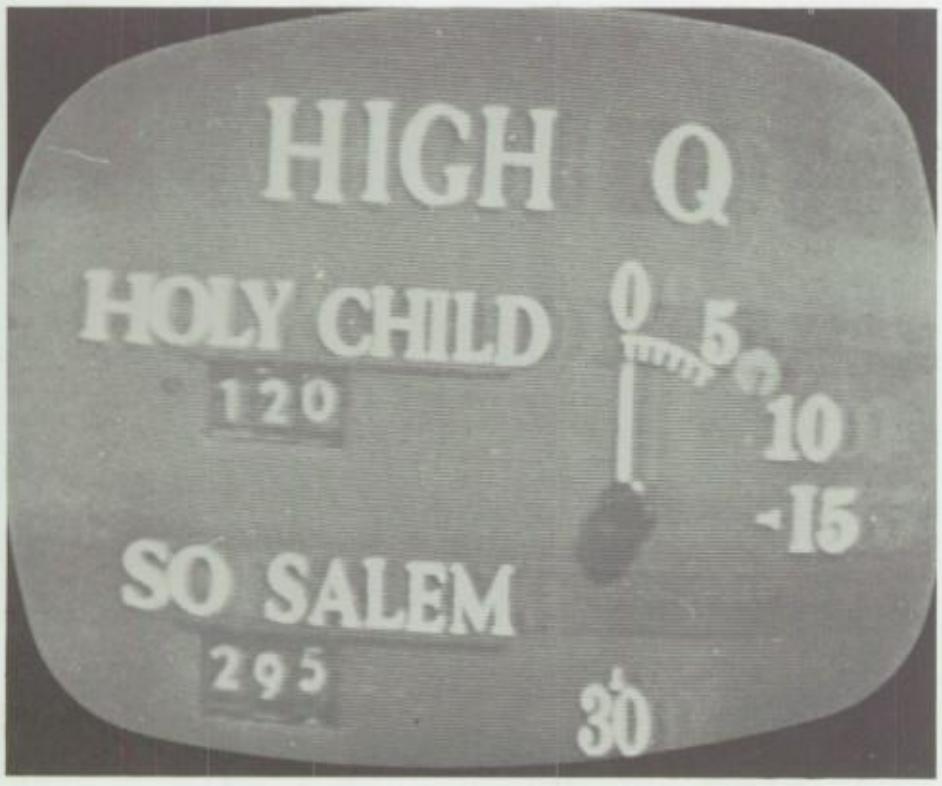
Saxon Scholars



Each year South Salem sends a team of four scholars to Portland to compete in the annual Hi-Q game on KGW-TV. The team consisted of Marty Seymour; Phil Bartsch, captain; and Walter Fairfax. Dave Beard and Keith Powell each appeared as a team member and Geoff Bestor acted as alternate.

According to KGW-TV policy for Hi-Q, South retired as a three-time champion after defeating Jesuit, Cleveland, and Holy Child Academy. The team received a trophy from Forest Amsden, general manager of KGW-TV, at an all school assembly. In addition to the trophy, the Hi-Q team won for South Salem High School eight books about the Northwest from J. K. Gill Co.

South Salem was asked to participate in the Tournament of Champions because of their winning season. In an 8-team single-elimination contest, South went to the finals by defeating Seaside and Camas. Sunset defeated South 300-200 to win the Portland area championship.

South High's National Forensic League, under the direction of retiring coach, Amanda J. Anderson, won a total of 85 awards and trophies during the 1970-71 year.

Sweepstakes awards were earned at the following tournaments: Corvallis, second in Grand; Dallas, first in junior, senior and Grand sweepstakes; McMinnville, first in combined totals; Linfield, second in senior division and fifth over-all of 78 schools; N. F. L. district, third sweepstakes; Reynolds High School, third in grand division; and North Salem, first in combined totals.

Participating in state-wide contests were Mike Benson, who placed first in four preliminary levels in the Soil and Water Conservation contest and went on to capture fifth in state; Gregg Harris, who was a state finalist in both Knights of Pythias and Voice of Democracy contests; and Andy Bishop, who participated in the state competition for the Optimist Club contest.

At the N.F.L. district tournament Gregg Harris placed first in humorous reading, Jeanne Evans took fourth in dramatic interpretation, and Mike Benson and Janet Price were semi-finalists in boys and girls extemporaneous. At the student congress Mike's resolution passed and will represent the state of Oregon at the national N.F.L. student congress at Stanford.

The district tournament held in Corvallis saw South qualify nine individuals for the state contest. They were Mike Benson, first in extemporaneous and Lincoln-Douglas debate and second in oratory; Gregg Harris, first in debate; and radio commentary; Mark Zenger, first in impromptu and Oxford debate; Art Chinn, first in expository and Oxford debate; Doug Wahl, first in expository and second in Lincoln-Douglas, Carrie Wyckoff, first in after-dinner; Robbie Story, second in poetry; Connie Wold, second in serious; and Mark Littleton, first in Oxford debate.

The State tournament also at O.S.U. concluded with Mike Benson placing second in Lincoln-Douglas debate, the highest any South student has ever achieved in this event, and fourth in original oratory. Gregg Harris was fifth in radio commentary and Connie Wold took sixth in serious interpretation.

Under the direction of the N.F.L. officers president, Mike Benson, vice-president, Gregg Harris, and secretary-treasurer, Carrie Wyckoff, South's N.F.L. chapter tripled its size during this season of competition. Miss Anderson retired with over a total of 40,000 points earned in competition by South High students, making her one of the top coaches in the nation.

By participating in forensic activities a student may earn N.F.L. membership for a total of twenty-five credit points, and advance in degrees of 75, 150, 250 and 500 points. Mike Benson held the only double ruby in the chapter, graduating with 544 points. New members initiated into the club this year include Dave Muir, Andy Bishop, Mark Zenger, Mark Littleton, Jocelyn Potter, Art Chinn, Robbie Story, Connie Wold, John Schuberg, Mary Chris Roehrick, Andy Geer, Keith Powell, Christi Hoover and Geoff Bester.

A mid-year Concert Festival with North High and McNary was held and twenty-two band members were chosen to play in the Honor Band conducted by Mr. Robert Vagner, University of Oregon Band Director. A Spring Concert and a concert for the Salem Rotary Club rounded out the year.

Six members received Superior ratings at the District Solo contest and Mary Chris Roehrich and John Schuberg were chosen to represent our district in the State Solo Contest in May. Outstanding bandsman of the year was Mary Chris Roehrich who received the John Philip Sousa band award.

Language Clubs Provide Cultural Understanding

The purpose of Language Clubs is to help students gain a better understanding of foreign countries. In order to be a member of a Language Club, students must be taking or have taken a foreign language.

To begin the year, the four clubs, German, French, Russian, and Spanish held initiation parties in honor of the new members.

The clubs had speakers from their appropriate countries. The Spanish Club's special guests were students from Costa Rica.

The grand finale of the year was International Night held on May 8. There was food, entertainment, and decorations from the respective countries represented by the clubs. The highlight of the evening was the soccer game between the Germans and the Russians. They battled through double overtime to a 2-2 tie.

To a Saxon

For the first time in South's history, Homecoming was held during football season and included various activities.

The evening started near Skyline Road with the formation of a noise parade. Following a police escort was a flatbed truck carrying members of the pep band and rally squad. Next in succession were the court members and trailing them were cars and cycles honking their horns. The spirited Saxons ended up in South's parking lot and everyone headed toward the auditorium to hear folk singing, rock groups, and enjoy free coke. Graduates and Saxons, as they headed toward the game, were welcomed by a huge ball of propane fire. The display formed the word "win" and served as an inspiration to everyone.

During half-time the princesses and their escorts were driven to the game. All court members lined up in the center of the field, where Laura Breakey was crowned Queen.

Following the game was a dance featuring the "Blue Gin". Graduates and students filled the balcony and everyone enjoyed the music, refreshments and decorations. The dance brought to a close an exciting evening remembered as South's first Homecoming during football season.

The 1970-71 Homecoming Reception was held December 23, in the East Balcony. The theme for the event was "Coming Home is . . ." Homecoming Queen, Laura Breakey, and her escort, John Johnson, presided over the reception. Several hundred graduates returned to South Salem to greet one another and to see former teachers. The reception's success was attributed to the outstanding work done by the committees and their chairmen.

'The Long and Winding Road'

'The Long and Winding Road', the 1970-71 Junior-Senior prom was held on May 15, in the South Cafeteria. A total of 121 couples attended.

Wally Johnson and his Orchestra played for the formal affair.

The decorations consisted of pots of flowers and artificial grass for a flower garden effect. Paper bumblebees were hanging in front of the windows. The couples enjoyed cookies and punch for refreshments throughout the night.

The prom was headed by Luanne Franz with Sue Sederstrom the co-chairman. Other committee chairmen were: Jan Heater, programs; Amy Bowersox, tickets; Karel Habernicht and Sandy Thompson, decorations; Claire Goldsmith and Karen Schneider, refreshments; Kathy Bartholomew and Jean Campbell, publicity; Carla Gifford and Cathy Pilcher, hospitality; and Gayle Barbour and Mike Skinner, clean-up.

Teahouse

"Teahouse" is a comedy in three acts about the American occupation of Japan during World War II. It tells of one mans realization of the beauty of the oriental people and his conflicts with his peers.

"Teahouse of the August Moon" was directed by Phyllis Quanbeck with the assistance of Margret Wilson, student director. "Teahouse" took place November 19, 20, and 21 in the Leslie Auditorium.

West Side Story

WEST SIDE STORY, South's third musical, was based on Shakespeare's ROMEO AND JULIET, and was written by Leonard Bernstein. Auditions for dance and singing were held in January. Thirty-five people auditioned for singing and 109 auditioned for dance. Out of these, 44 people were chosen to play the characters of the various street gangs and their girlfriends. There were only three adult characters in the play.

WEST SIDE STORY was chosen because of its challenging music. It was the opinion of Mr. Frajola and Mr. Frame that we had the potential for this show. Because of the student response in the early dance auditions, Miss Bitsie Lee felt South could do this show. The dancers and singers worked for three months.

Before this play was in production, 136 people on thirteen different crews were spending their extra-curricular time on WEST SIDE STORY. This does not include the members of the orchestra or the chorus which made up a total of 89 people who were also in rehearsal.

"It can be seen that a South High musical is really a STUDENT PRODUCTION!"

I Will Not Go Back.

Our Thanksgiving Assembly was geared to man's aesthetic appraisal of himself. Though we live in a time of crisis and tension, we must consciously cling to our belief in man's essential worthwhileness. In that way we are enabled to see our human value in its proper perspective. Through the use of voice choirs, interpretive dance, and individual speakers, Milton Geiger's poem I WILL NOT GO BACK was presented at South's Thanksgiving Assembly with the purpose of having each student make his own subjective response to the production.

TOP PICTURE: Mike Cullum, Margaret Willson, Daina Dillabough, perform a modern interpretive dance. Witch, witch, the accuser cried,
Then as his echo resounded and died.
So did the man whose life
was deprived,
By the wrath of his neighbor's tongue.

And so did the man with the slanted eyes,
Accused of treason by Sadicious lies.
Was this all done to make
man wise,
Or is the whole world to be hung?

With witches diminished and Commies so few,
A new category must now fill
the brew,
To crowd all the animals
into the zoo,
Till the air has escaped from their lungs.

Will we permit one man's qualms,
To erupt a black ocean
where once there was calm,
To make us drop from our hands what we held
in our palms,
The answer it lies in the young.

Abecedarian

The poems reprinted here are only a representative sample of the many poems, short stories, artwork and photographs which appeared in the ABECEDARIAN, the 1971 literary magazine. Some of the students working on the staff were Lori Reynolds, Gretchen Steinback, Connie Wold, Hal Darst, Doug Wold, Krista Daub, and Sherri Dill. Mr. James Manual acted as faculty advisor.

The Lit Mag is composed of work written and selected by students. In the third year of production, the ABECEDARIAN featured poetry printed in the author's handwriting to add an original touch to the publication.

Tonights of sky
live you through i;
when upon stars
rainwashed fars tender so near are kissing here.
Together youplusi
make love star's high.

Reunion so we
is happiness sea;
Youplusi above sky
together we lie.
This joyfullness of union's yes
is now's ecstacy
holding infinity's key;
Forever youplusi
make love star's high.

Morning Sky
Morning sky broken
By bands of blue and gray.
Ragged, Shifting, Free.
I envy it; it has no cares.
It is not responsible for
How it looks,
Or what happens to it.
I should envy the depth,
The intensity of its colors
Were not my own equally as brilliant.
Morning sky,
Not even the clouds
Can touch you.
How I admire your clarity.
How I rejoice in your wrath.
How I pity your remoteness.

Senior Class

Senior Class Officers 1970-1971

President: John Johnson

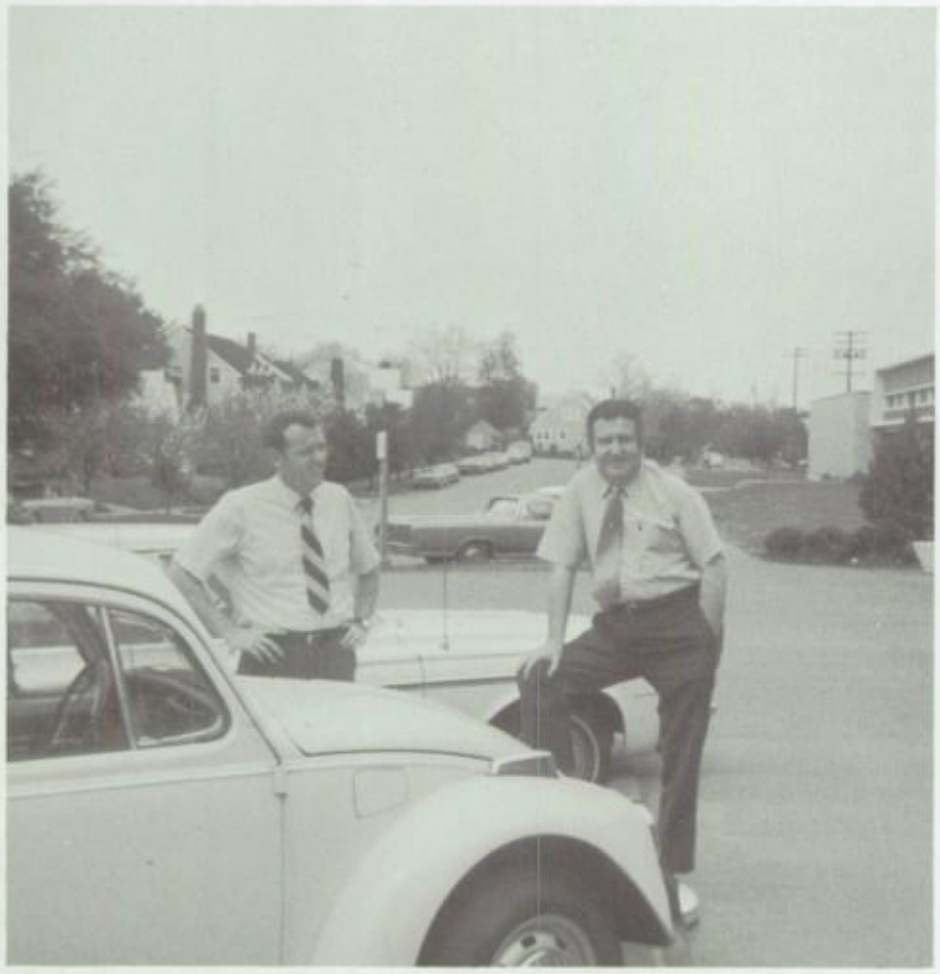
Secretary: Valorie Loverien

Vice-President: Lyle Yates

Treasurer: Diana Smith

Sergeant-at-arms: Gerry Warren

'I Too Am a Saxon'



A senior class is something more than the end of high school. It is the end of four years of close friendship, sometimes the first close friendship which a person may have. It is the end, for many, of being surrounded by friendly faces every morning. To many it is the end of being a Saxon. And with this idea a lonesome tear may form, for being a Saxon made it be. A system that could operate. A spirit that could not be surpassed. A team that could not lose in any sense of the word. And a class of individuals that would not give up and would not be beaten. Some looked forward to a straight "A" average. Many looked for that one single game to a football state championship. Some awaited patiently for "West Side Story." Others only wanted to receive a diploma. But all were undefeated in their own individual task. Now the proudest and finest Senior Class must say good-bye South, and good luck to the Saxons. There is no way to show a thought. A simple gesture that would say it nicely would be, "Thank you South Salem," and "I will never forget that I too am a Saxon."

Senior Class Advisors Mr. Marr and Mr. Tate admire the fastest car in town as they rap about the Senior Class.

Students Honored

The South Salem High Senior Banquet was held May 19, at the Marion Motor Hotel. After a buffet dinner, Senior Class President, John Johnson, introduced the two honored guests, Miss Amanda Anderson and Mr. George Birrell, both of whom graduated with the class of 1971. The student speakers were Kate Ashman and Phil Bartsch. Special recognition was given to the seniors who received scholarships, and to those who had been awarded titles by the senior class. The awards presentation was followed by the reading of the class wills. The banquet was concluded by a talk from "Pappy's Corner."

UPPER LEFT: Honored with Merit Scholarships were Sherry Hudgins and Jon Levin. UPPER RIGHT: Other seniors receiving honor scholarships were Anne Norris, who also received a Merit Scholarship and Dan Burda who was accepted to the Air Force Academy. LOWER: Both the seniors and the administrators had a memorable time at the banquet.

Special thanks to Newsfoto Yearbooks, Taylor Publishing Co. and Kennell-Ellis Portrait Studio for their help in producing the 1971 Sword & Shield.

when you knew that it was over were you suddenly aware that the autumn leaves were changing to the color of her hair!
as the images unwind, like the circles that you find in the windmills of your mind!
